Excess MI over correlation comes from mixing platforms (8.4% of pairs vs 0.2–0.3%)

B-spline mutual information (shared histogram bins) against |Pearson r| for every gene pair; full range shown. Pairs far above the dashed curve carry dependence that correlation does not capture: in uncorrected EcoMAC these are platform mixtures, and per-platform centring removes nearly all of them.

